IS NO PLACE FOR Don't Jump ONE CONVICT DUG: THE OLD SOLDIER DON'T Jump ONE CONVICT DUG:

Regarded as Daugerous, Though Aged and in Bad Health.

HE HAS KILLED A COMRADE

A Light Schtence Because of His Age and His Many Infirmities.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NOINFOLK, VA., April 17,—Frederick G. Kingsley, the old soldler convicted of murder, is still here. The managers of Soldiers' Homes have declined admit him again till they have investigated the case thoroughly. Lust year the old man, who is more than seventy years of age and wounded, partially blind and decrepit, killed Captain A. C. Peul during a quarrel at the Soldiers' Home in Hampton, because the officer would not grant a permit to him to leave the grounds.

E permit to him to leave the grounds. Kingsley was tried and convicted in the Federal Court here, but on account of his condition Judge Edmund Waddill, Jr., declined to inflet a long term of imprisonment, but sentenced him instead to a few months in the jail here. After that he was to be sent to the Soldiers' Home at Johnson, Tenn.

When the term was ended here, however, the old man began to make use of his liberty in such a riotous way that the police arrested him for drunkenness and disorder on the night of the day of his release. The justice of the Police Court declined to release him, on the ground that he had killed a man, and, therefore, was dangerous. Now, although he is free, he is not eligible to the Soldiers' Home at Hampton or anywhere else, al-declined to release him, on the ground that he had killed a man, and, therefore, was dangerous. Now, although he is free, he is not eligible to the Soldiers' Home at Hampton or anywhere else, although he still draws his pension. He has been a minstrel, and has traveled with some of the famous troupes, but he appears to be friendless now.

STRIPPING THE SCHOONER.

The tug Resoue, of the Merritt and Chapman Wracking Company, is still at the scene of the wreck of the schooner Blanche Hopkins, at Gull Shoals, N. C., for the purpose of stripping her of all that is valuable. It was determined to be impossible to save the schooner or her cargo. She was bound from New York to Savannah with a cargo of cement, and went aground last week. The crew of nine was saved by the life-saving, crews of Gull Shools and Chicamicomico stations, in surf boats, which went to the rescue several miles to sea.

NEGRO SHOOTS INTO CROWD.

Caldwell Sanderlin, of Kempsville, shot and killed Jeremiah Wilkins, another nero, in Meare's grocery store at Bonney, Princess Anne County, Saturday night, and escaped. There is a posse scarching for him. The murder was the result of a quarrel, of which the following is an account by a white man of the vicinity:

"The iwo men got into a wrangle on the road near the Mears store carly in the evening, During the course of it Wilkins drew a pistol and threatened to kill Sanderlin. Several nestoes separated like iwo. Wilkins went to the store, and Sanderlin appeared at the door of the, store with a shotkun in his bands. Without hesitating a moment he singled Wilkins out where he stood and fired a charge of heavy shot duto his body hefore the man could move to escape or in protect himself. As Wilkins tell dying to the floor Sanderlin seaped.
